

TSAR IMPERIAL EGG

Being inspired by the most fanciful and well known Imperial Eggs, Imperial Enameled Clock Egg and vodka shot glasses have been created for Tsar Imperial collection.

Item 204980 Imperial Cobalt Blue Enamel Skeleton Clock Egg

24K gold-plated Egg is hand crafted to the highest quality standards in sterling silver and translucent enamel guilloché.

Swiss made mechanical skeleton movement

Trans-Siberian Railway Egg

In 1900 one of the biggest sensations in the world was the international fair and the Trans-Siberian Railway, Faberge house created the most complex of the imperial eggs Trans-Siberian Railway Egg in order to mark the beginning of the construction.

Monumental Bowl of the Royal Danish life guard, 1908

The gift of Tsar pair of Russia Alexander III and Marie Fedorovna to the Queen's life guard on occasion of their 250th anniversary

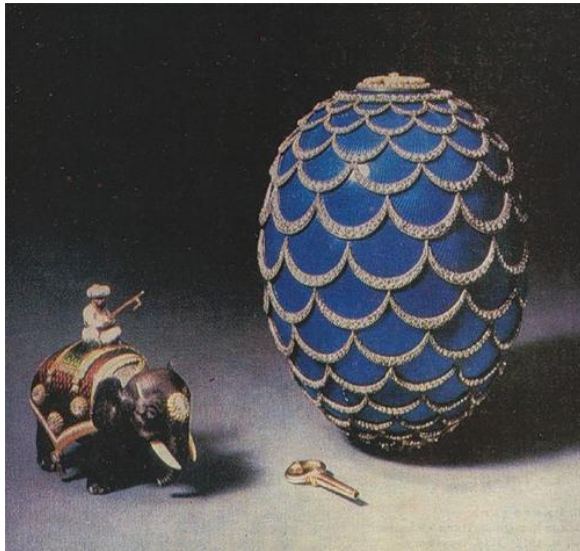

Item 472084 Imperial Egg Vodka Shot glasses, set of 4

Mouth-blown, cased, hand-cut, hand-engraved crystal of assorted colors: green, ruby red, cobalt blue, gold amber

Height 6 cm. Limited Edition of 999.

The spectacular Imperial Rose Trellis Egg, originally created in 1907, celebrated the birth of Czarevich Alexei, son and heir of Nicholas and Alexandra.

The Pine Cone Egg was originally made for Varvara Kelkh, a wealthy Russian heiress, who commissioned seven Easter eggs which rivaled in importance and beauty those given to Empress Alexandra Fedorovna.

1895

Яйцо «Бутон розы»
The Rosebud Egg

The Imperial Rosebud Egg was created for the Empress Alexandra Fedorovna in 1895.

1897

Яйцо «Коронационное»
The Coronation Egg

Given by Czar Nicholas II to Empress Alexandra Fedorovna in 1897 on the first Easter following their Coronation, the Coronation Egg is a masterpiece of craftsmanship.